

MIRACO are the founding developers of a revolutionary patented livestock watering system. After many years of research, MIRACO perfected an energy-free livestock watering system where they were the pioneers in manufacturing automatic livestock waterers from polyethylene materials.

The patented, unique ball system, used in their energy-free livestock waterers are both insulated from freezing in the severe cold temperatures of winter (up to -40 C) and have the added benefit of a cooling affect for the water in the warmer summer months.
